Write your final composition here.

Have you ever had a backpack as tall as the ceiling? Well, let me tell you a story about what happened. It was 7:30 and I was still in bed. My mom yelled "J it's time for breakfast!" I started to open my eyes and turned to my clock. "Holy smokes is that the time!" I said. I raced down stairs and sat down at the table. I ate breakfast, brushed my teeth, and got dressed. It was all most time for school. But, I think I have some time left. Befor I could say one more word, my mom said "Come on its time to go." "But, its not even close to 8:00 clock." I know its not but, I won't to get their early." "OK!" I got in the car and we took off. My mom broped me off. I stil had some time to go to the book store. I got my book and walk down the hallway. But, sudenly, I burned into a backpack a very large backpack. So huge it tuched the ceiling. So I paked it. Then, it started to move. I didn't know what to do, so I ran but then backpack grabed me. I was petrified! The It poot me in its book holde. I fell on a book it was soft. I thought of a idea. The book was a sesostudy's book.

Score Point: 4

This response reflects proficiency in narrative writing. Through the effective use of dialogue, the writer engages the reader in the storyline. The response is organized and displays some syntactic variety and facility in the use of language (holy smokes, before I could say one more word, and I was petrified). The narrative ends abruptly. Further development is needed for a higher score. Additionally, there are many spelling errors. However, the punctuation and sentence structure are handled skillfully.
